

CONTENTS

Foreword, Fatema Soudavar Farmanfarmaian	13
Introduction, Rudi Matthee	17
War and Diplomacy: A Letter Describing Shah Tahmasp I and His Ministers, José Cutillas Ferrer	29
An Uncommon Affair? The Hormuz Conflict from the Perspective of the Spanish Embassy in London, Óscar Alfredo Ruiz Fernández	41
The Involvement of the Sherley Brothers in the Army of Naples, Miguel Ángel de Bunes Ibarra	49
Persian Knights in Spain: Embassies and Conversion Processes, Enrique García Hernán	63
‘Being so thoroughly Spanish, the Persians’: Conversion and Ingration during the Monarchy of Philip III, Beatriz Alonso Acero	99
A Report of the Bishop of Meliapor to Philip III (6-XII-1606), Luis Gil Fernández	127
The Lords of all Muslims? The ‘Avisos de Constantinopla’ and Christian Perspectives on the Ottoman-Safavid Rivalry, Phillip Williams	145
Perspectives on Iberan-Safavid Relations. A Comparative Study of the Ottoman and Safavid Embassies at the Spanish Court (1600-1650), Pablo Hernández Sau	167
The History of Tamerlan in Don García de Silva y Figueroa’s Comentarios (1624), Rui Manuel Loureiro	177
The first Monetary History of Early Modern Persia and the Monetary Labyrinth of Don García de Silva y Figueroa, Carlos Martínez Shaw	199
Royal Protocol in Safavid Persia through Don García de Silva y Figueroa’s Writings, Dolores Perpiñán Silla	207
Bibliography of Carlos Alonso	217
Chronology, José Cutillas	225
Index	235